If there was ever occasion for rejoicing among the farmers it is right now. And should not that "good, hearty feeling" be commensurate with a good old-fashioned harvest home picnic? We think so, and hope the farmers will prepare such a celebration as was never seen in this section before, just as soon as possible.

Come and see our new Black Alpaca for twenty-five cents per yard. The best ever brought to this market for the money.
LITOWICH & WITTMANN.

We had an exceedingly pleasant hour's chat with Oscar Seitz, Esq., of Salina, on Monday. Mr. Seitz is a brother of our highly respected citizen George, and entertains the same broad-gauge view of things in general. Mr. Seitz paid a high compliment to our new stone block, and expressed his faith in future Elsworth and this portion of Kansas—Elsworth Reporter.

Having moved my blacksmith shop to Bavaria, I am now prepared to do repairing on machines, plows, wagons, horse-shoeing and general repairing. Thanking the public for past favors, I would ask a continuance of the same.

Messrs. Hawks, Ballard and Bowers, from Ohio, well known in this section of the country, have been looking after their land interests on Gypsum creek. They will soon ship hither a steam thrasher, to be used in threshing their 600 acres of wheat. It is their intention to put at least 1,200 acres into wheat this fall.

A rare treat for the citizens of our place and vicinity in store next Saturday evening at the Presbyterian church. Hon. J. Q. Detweiler, Past Grand Worthy Chief Templar of Iowa, now of Kansas, will lecture on the subject of Temperance. Mr. Detweiler has lectured seventeen consecutive nights in Philadelphia to crowded houses. All are invited to be present. Admission free.

One day last week $2,225 worth of "mule flesh" was sold at one of our livery stables. It is estimated that at least $10,000 have been paid out for horses and mules at Salina this season. Four stock dealers are busy all the time shipping in mules and horses from Eastern Kansas and Missouri, and selling them in this market to buyers who come here from this and surrounding counties.

The county treasurer desires as to call attention to the fact that warrants for the collection of the tax on the personal property not paid, will soon be placed in the hands of the sheriff. Mileage and other fees count up very fast, and is for the interest of the taxpayer to go to the treasurer's office and settle right away. Quite an amount of money will thus be saved to the taxpayer.

Mr. Oscar Seitz has received a palace of beautiful marble, entitled "the Mirror," and it sits with its royal plumage in the western end of the store. It brings hundreds of admirers about it, and with fountains even more beautiful than those of beautiful Versailles, cools the parched and heated throats of the multitudes with neatness and dispatch. That new soda fountain is a grand affair—just such a one as we would expect so progressive a man as its proprietor would purchase.

A dashing, flashing, smashing, snatching rain and wind storm set in last Saturday evening, and for the space of about ten minutes it seemed as if everything was "going overboard." Although it was supposed considerable damage would be done to the ripened grain, none is reported. In and about town some small shade trees and fruit trees were prostrated by the force of the storm. A frame building, then nearly completed—erected by J. B. Sydeman in the northern part of town, was blown down.

A fellow was on the street the other day fixing the value upon his inestimable services as a harvest hand at three dollars per day. He shot off his bugle for some time, until finally accosted by a farmer who said: "Seems to me your services have grown very valuable suddenly. Only the other day you were at my house begging dinner." The three dollar per day gentlemen subsided as quickly as a stroke of lightning had gone down his back. He motioned the farmer away, beseeching him in an undertone to say nothing more about the affair, and asking him to go and take a drink of "forked lightning" with him, which the farmer declined.

It will be observed by an ordinance published this week that several new sidewalks are to be built. The ordinance provides (1) for the extension of the sidewalk on the east side of Santa Fe Avenue between Walnut and Mulberry streets; (2) on the south side of Iron Avenue between Ninth street and the west line of Bishop's and Blodgett's additions; (3) on the west side of Eighth street between Ash and Elm and Mulberry and South streets; (4) on the south side of Elm street between Eighth and Ninth streets. The first named sidewalk is to be built on or before the 1st of August, and to be eight feet wide. The others are to be built on or before the same date and to be five feet wide.

We are glad to learn that the culture of sunflowers is pretty well understood by our North Santa Fe friend, of the Advocate. Indeed the sunflower hath many virtues, as he relates—especially his South American article. This classic flower, rivaling in perfection the classic hyacinth, hath waved in the moonlight over the forms of many benighted and exhausted tramps—and other mortals. It hath been even as an oasis in the desert—as a fountain by the heated and dusty way-side. And yet our trend down street has sacrilegiously laid hands upon a garden of these choice plants and, with one fell swoop, gathered them all to their fathers. We are afraid these delicate flowers will never blossom and bloom and shed their fragrance on the desert air about the Advocate's office, as David promised us. He must now rely wholly on the culture of his wild cucumber and sandbars, to prove his agricultural acquisitions, while we, meanwhile, will hire an explorer to search for the north pole of sense, if any there be. In the greater part of the Advocate's article.

While Mr. George Krueger was riding in the country, on Tuesday, his horse became frightened at some object and ran away. Mr. Krueger not exactly suited with the speed being made jumped from his buggy and sprained his ankle quite badly. He is now laid up with the sprain.

Mr. J. C. Ryan, of Rocky Hill, Lincoln county, came down with two large loads of wool last Monday and sold to Mr. Well. The pelts from ten of Mr. Ryan's sheep weighed 115 pounds, or 11 1/2 pounds each. He reports that his sheep are in splendid condition and wintered without much loss.

Mrs. J. S. Vorhes, formerly Miss Lyle Mann, now of Salina, Kansas, is home on a visit. At many, after an absence of two and a half years at the former place, which is located in the beautiful Solomon Valley, where the beautiful fields of wheat predominate. Mr. Vorhes is one of Salina's most worthy business men, and is well known throughout Northern Kansas, having been engaged in the mercantile business at Seneca a short time since—Hawthorn Dispatch.

Petitions are in circulation asking the county commissioners to call an election for voting bonds in aid of building bridges as follows: (1) A bridge between railroad bridge and the river's mouth on the Saline river. (2) A bridge on the Saline river about 9 miles north of town. (3) A bridge across the Smoky Hill near Mr. Lankin's—12 miles south of Salina. (4) A bridge across a branch of Dry creek, near the Messrs. Carlin's farm. (5) A bridge in this city to take the place of the Iron Avenue bridge—the bridge already there to be removed to one of the locations above specified.

Hanna thinks that the "multiplicity of candidates for the offices to be filled, this fall, will necessitate holding a genuine county convention—not a half way affair, but one in which the wishes of the parties will be considered." The old siner evidently attempts to cast a slur at the convention held last fall. The fact is there was never a better convention held in Saline county than that of last fall—and B. J. P. Hanna knows that as well as any other man. The merits of all the candidates were thoroughly discussed. The primaries were attended by over one-half of the voters of the county—a thing unprecedented. Hanna's wishes, to be sure, were not considered, and hence the "affair" was only "half-way."

Hanna had better quit complaining about conditions. He has become a chronic beller and don't pay any attention to them, any way. The idea of his insulting the Republican voters of Saline county by throwing in their teeth that the most harmonious, enthusiastic and straight forward convention ever held in Saline county was not genuine! Hanna had better take a cathartic pill and try to rid himself of a ton or two of his demagogism and prejudice.

The Regular Union Quarterly Temperance meeting of all our city churches will occur at the M. E. Church, Sabbath Evening at 8 o'clock, July 1st. Rev. Mr. Carr of the Baptist Church will deliver the address.

This movement of the churches as such is entirely distinct from the Temperance Alliance, having been in operation some time before that had any existence; and having for its purpose the awakening of a higher Temperance sentiment in our community, solely by public discussion four times a year, without the aid of any organization outside the churches; and as it is believed to have done great good in the past upon that basis upon which all our churches cordially co-operate, however much they may honestly differ as to other means for advancing the cause.

The committee have felt unwilling to suspend this agency in favor of any more recent movement unless the churches who in union service created the committee should in like manner discharge it; they, therefore, invite all the co-operating churches to adjourn their regular service on that occasion and in union counsel instruct them as to the future.

The Dewey Harvester.
Still they come. One more machine has been added to the list of harvesters, and after witnessing the operations of the Dewey Harvester, and hearing what others say who have worked on such machines for several years, we conclude that the end has well nigh come. The Dewey Harvester is manufactured by the Minneapolis Harvester Works, Minneapolis, Minn. It is built entirely upon a new principle from others—the whole machine being under the control of the driver and can be adjusted to suit any kind of ground or condition of soil.

On Wednesday last Mr. T. W. McCarg, general agent for the Meadow Lark Reaper and Mower (manufactured by the same company), sent a Dewey into the field of Col. Phillips', west of town, and gave it entirely into the hands of the farmers present.

The points of superiority claimed for the Dewey over all others are light draughts, easy adjustments, and improved grain elevator which the manufacturers claim to be the best in the world; and it was the unanimous decision of all who witnessed the machine working that it fully sustained the claims of the manufacturers. The working of the elevating apparatus met with special commendation, and it seemed absolutely perfect. All came to the conclusion that the Dewey would do more work than any other Harvester and mower as such grain by dropping upon the ground or littering over the machine—the saving being quite a benefit to the hard working farmers. Many of our intelligent farmers will see that it is to their advantage to purchase a Dewey for next year's harvest.

Tuesday morning Messrs. Peter Swartz & Co. opened the Union Meat Market, in the building formerly occupied by C. E. Mead & Son, directly opposite the Journal office.
